The MAP Project

Rather than working for young people, the MAP Project works with them, turning ideas into community-led action.

Backed by the EU Youth Strategy, it provides opportunities, international experience, and media platforms to help young people lead their own campaigns. Through cross-border workshops, meetings with decision-makers, and support for youth workers, MAP strengthens skills, networks, and grassroots collaboration across Europe.

Youth as changemakers

MAP empowers young creators, storytellers, and leaders to drive positive change. Participants have a space to share ideas, engage directly with decision-makers, and develop the skills and confidence to lead change in their communities.

Youth workers and organisations

MAP also supports youth workers and organisations by encouraging collaboration, implementing grass-roots initiatives, and building European networks rooted in equality, inclusion, and diversity.

The MAP mission

MAP combines storytelling with activities to fight disinformation, strengthen European identity, and empower disadvantaged youth. By building media literacy and connecting organisations, the project helps young people become active leaders.
